

A skydiver whose parachute is fully deployed is descending at constant speed. Describe what is happening to her kinetic energy, her potential energy, and her total mechanical energy as she falls. Is any work being done? If yes, where does it go?